The Hutcheson Brothers, Brandon & Jon, are rising singer-songwriters and country music entertainers. Driven by the thrill of performing and writing songs that make a connection with people, they proudly fly the banner of country music reflecting their southern roots and hometown values.

Natives of Tennessee, Brandon and Jon come from a musical family. Their uncle, Buck Hutcheson, was a guitarist for The Memphis Beats, the backing band of Country Music Hall of Fame and Rock N Roll HoF member, 'The Killer' Jerry Lee Lewis, and their mother, Lorie, was a charting Country-Gospel artist. In addition to family, the brothers also cite Garth Brooks, Keith Urban, John Mayer, HARDY, Koe Wetzel, Brooks & Dunn, Keith Whitley, and fellow Lake County native Carl Perkins as inspirations.

The Hutcheson Brothers have performed at CMA Fest, The Bluebird Café, NFL Draft, NASCAR weekend at Nashville Superspeedway, Dosey Doe Big Barn, Legends Pubhouse, Tina Turner Museum, Country Tonite Theater, among many other venues and events. They have opened for Parker McCollum, Shenandoah, Buddy Jewell, Gene Watson, T. Graham Brown, Confederate Railroad, Casey Chesnutt, The Artimus Pyle Band and others. Additionally, they have also appeared on Garth Brooks' weekly streaming show, Inside Studio G.
