JON HUTCHESON WINS BEST ACTOR IN A MUSIC VIDEO AT 2026 JMAs

Held at the Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (September 22, 2026) – Jon Hutcheson, singer-songwriter and half of the Country Music duo the Hutcheson Brothers, was awarded Best Actor in a Music Video at the 12th Annual Josie Music Awards Sunday evening, September 20, for his role in the Hutcheson Brothers' Damn Dallas music video. The event was held at the legendary Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville.

Though Hutcheson, a West Tennessee native, was not in attendance during the award show due to being on the road, after the honor was awarded he stated, "I appreciate everyone with the JMAs for this honor. Damn Dallas is one of my favorites to play live, and I really enjoyed making the video. I have to give credit to my brother, Brandon, for helping write a song I can play every night and also to R. Alan Ingalls who never hesitated when we said we wanted to do something 'crazy' for this music video. Alan is the one who made this video what it is, and I'm proud of how it turned out. I appreciate everyone who has watched our Damn Dallas music video."

Since its release, the Hutcheson Brothers' Damn Dallas music video has over 56,000 views from YouTube and Facebook combined and has been added to the Texas Country Network and JMA Network TV programming.
