HUTCHESON BROTHERS NAMED FINALIST IN AMERICA'S NEXT TOP HITMAKER COMPETITION

Sponsored by The Rolling Stone, MUSICARES, Colossal & Gibson Gives

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Country Music duo and singer-songwriters, the Hutcheson Brothers, comprised of Brandon and Jon Hutcheson, are proud to announce their Finalist status in the America's Next Top Hitmaker competition, sponsored by The Rolling Stone, MUSICARES, Colossal, and Gibson Gives.

The contest is a weekly fan-voted competition where the public votes for their favorite artists. Votes can be cast every 24 hours from the same device beginning the afternoon of July 1, 2024. Votes are reset each week with majority vote winners advancing. The final round takes place in September, to which the Hutcheson Brothers are hopeful they can advance.

"We're honored to have been named a Finalist for America's Next Top Hitmaker," said the brothers. "We look forward to the opportunity to represent country music and Tennessee in this contest and show others what our music is all about."

The artist with the most votes at the end of the competition earns a feature story in The Rolling Stone Magazine, an opportunity to perform at The Future of Music Showcase in Austin, Texas in March 2025, and $10,000.

"This is something that could potentially advance our career," the brothers added. "Everyone knows the Gibson brand and The Rolling Stone. We're excited for the opportunity to be part of this competition, and we would like to ask for your votes each week. Hopefully, with your help, you all can help us achieve a milestone in our career! We greatly appreciate everyone's help!"

Daily voting begins July 1, 2024 at 3 p.m. CST. Click here to vote for the Hutcheson Brothers.
